Handcrafted plaster wallcoverings

Sheets of genuine mineral plaster, one millimetre thick, worked by hand on a cellulose backing and printed in the workshop in Minervino di Lecce, Italy. They are hung like traditional wallcoverings, with the depth of a fresco.

Description

The mix brings together 27 raw materials, including lime, Carrara marble and Roman travertine recovered from stone-processing waste, and Lecce stone. Master Artisans spread it by hand on a non-woven fabric in pure cellulose: the result is a thin, flexible plaster that rolls up without crumbling.

Every fresco is made by hand, to measure for the wall it will cover, and can be customised in design, colour and scale. The surface is porous, breathable and free of plastics; the material is certified for residential and commercial use.

Properties

Reaction to fire

Class B-s1, d0 in the reaction to fire test.

Thermal resistance

Thickness and raw materials give insulation comparable to a spruce wood cladding.

GREENGUARD Gold inks

Certified for indoor air quality: suitable for restaurants, schools and healthcare facilities.

Formaldehyde free

Formaldehyde release compliant with UNI EN 12149.

Exteriors

Suitable outdoors too, protected by a water repellent or a resin with UV filters, renewed over time.

Acoustics

The porous structure promotes sound absorption and reduces reverberation.

Water

Water resistant; in showers it is protected with a resin that makes it waterproof.

Zero VOC

Natural raw materials, with no volatile organic compound emissions.

Antibacterial

A sanitising treatment prevents the formation of mould.
